

Qirat shahid

Reflection Essay

The genre of my rhetorical essays is nonfiction. It is nonfiction because cancer happens in real life. Cancer is a real disease that is caused by uncontrolled cell division that kills a lot of people. Also, my rhetorical Analysis is tone. Rhetorical Analysis has helped you to achieve the Course-Learning Outcomes by helping me make an argument that was Wiljer, D lab report is better and stronger than other lab reports because it tone use inform and get reader's attention, the structure is well organized and lab reports style are easy for audiences to follow. I was able to explore the lab report's author goal that was to inform me about cancer inherited by genes and a way to keep the records.

My exigence for writing the rhetorical essay about cancer is my past experience. In the past about 3 years ago I have heard an old woman say cancer spreads by touching other people that have cancer. Another thing that motivated me was not the context of cancer but the structure of the lab report because it has everything in its specific paragraph and with it heading topics.

The purpose for writing this Rhetorical essay is to inform my audience about cancer. Cancer can pass down through genes. I also want to show the best lab report. I have hope accomplished to tell what a good lab report needs. My audience are people that read my essay, my fellow classmates and professors.

Context my rhetorical Analysis is tone. my rhetorical Analysis is tone. Rhetorical Analysis has helped you to achieve the Course-Learning Outcomes by helping me make an argument that was Wiljer, D lab report is better and stronger than other lab reports because it tone use inform and get reader's attention, the structure is well organized and lab reports style are easy for audiences to follow. I was able to explore the lab report's author goal that was to inform me about cancer inherited by genes and a way to keep the records.

My weakness in my thesis because writing thesis is hard for me. Also, my weakness does not have all the points that I am going to talk about in my paragraphs. It is very general. Next time my goal is to write a strong thesis My strength is my body paragraph because in the paragraph I am able to explain more. I can express myself by writing more than a few words. In addition, I can use evidence to express myself more and tell my opinions. Everything connects with other in the paragraph.

